Breakout Session 2

11:30 a.m. - 12:20 p.m.

Understanding the Design and Construction Process

Your library building needs updates and improvements or maybe even a whole new building, but what to do and how to get it done? At the 2015 ILF Annual Conference, a high level look at implementing a capital project was shared, this year a more in-depth dive into the design and construction process will be discussed. This session will be led by a construction manager and interior designer, who will walk through the phases of a capital project and discuss how to address challenges such as: determining the right scope for the project, coming up with a realistic project budget, how to work with your design and construction team to make timely decisions, and how to set your project up for success.

Presenter(s): Sara Chrzanowski, Dewberry/Registered Interior Designer and Dion Katsouros, The Skillman Corporation

Session Sponsor: ILTA

Audience: Library Trustees

Room: Vets 3

Breakout Session 3

2 p.m. - 2:50 p.m.

Budget - When to Worry and What to Ask

Dealing with the budget is a challenge, if you do things right the library will have a chance at being secure. If you mess it up, it can be a disaster. Learn about common pitfalls for budget planning and implementation. Learn about the difference between your legal budget and what is actually going on with examples from a real library.

Presenter(s): John Mundy, Tell City Perry County Public Library
